

Public consultation on strengthening the quality of corporate reporting and its enforcement

Fields marked with * are mandatory.

Introduction

This consultation is now available in 23 European Union official languages.

Please use the language selector at the top of this page to choose your language for this consultation.

High quality and reliable corporate reporting is of key importance for healthy financial markets, business investment and economic growth. The EU corporate reporting framework should ensure that companies publish the right quantity and quality of relevant information allowing investors and other interested stakeholders to assess the company's performance and governance and to take decisions based on it. High quality reporting is also indispensable for cross-border investments and the development of the capital markets union \(CMU\).

In the context of this consultation, corporate reporting comprises the financial statements of companies, their management report that includes the non-financial and corporate governance statements and country-by-country reporting. It would also include sustainability information pursuant to the proposed Corporate Sustainability Reporting Directive.

The consultation takes into account the outcomes of the 2018 consultation on the EU framework for public reporting by companies and the 2021 fitness check on the EU framework for public reporting by companies. This consultation however focuses on companies listed on EU regulated markets (hereafter 'listed companies' or 'issuers'), that is a subset of the companies subject to public reporting requirements under EU law. Please note that in terms of reporting, this consultation does not seek the views of stakeholders on the applicable accounting standards, such as International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS) or the standards in the Accounting Directive, or the views of stakeholders on public country-by-country reporting or the Commission's proposal for a Corporate Sustainability Reporting Directive.

The 2018 consultation did not cover the areas of corporate governance or statutory audit. Therefore, this consultation contains questions to evaluate aspects of the Audit Regulation 537/2014, Audit Directive 2006/43/EC and of Accounting Directive 2013/34/EU. However, it covers the EU framework on corporate governance only in so far as relevant for corporate reporting by listed companies and the statutory audit of so-called public interest entities (PIEs). Listed companies, credit institutions, insurance undertakings and entities designated as such by Member States are PIEs.

This consultation also builds on the work carried out by the European Securities and Markets Authority \(ESMA\) and the Committee of European Audit Oversight Bodies \(CEAOB\).

This consultation is divided into 5 parts

- The first part seeks your views about the overall impact of the EU framework on the three pillars of high quality and reliable corporate reporting - corporate governance, statutory audit and supervision. It also seeks your views about the interaction between the three pillars
- The second part of the questionnaire focuses on the corporate governance pillar, as far as relevant for corporate reporting. It aims to get your feedback in particular on the functioning of company boards, audit committees and your views on how to improve their functioning
- The third part focuses on the statutory audit pillar. The first questions in this part aim at getting your views on the effectiveness, efficiency and coherence of the EU audit framework. It focuses in particular on the changes brought by the 2014 audit reform. Subsequently, the questions aim to seek views on how to improve the functioning of statutory audit
- The fourth part asks questions about the supervision of PIE statutory auditors and audit firms
- Finally, the consultation will ask questions about the supervision of corporate reporting and how to improve it

This consultation will directly feed into an impact assessment that the Commission will prepare in 2022 with a view to possibly amend and strengthen the current EU rules.

Please note: In order to ensure a fair and transparent consultation process only responses received through our online questionnaire will be taken into account and included in the report summarising the responses. Should you have a problem completing this questionnaire or if you require particular assistance, please contact fisma-corporate-reporting@ec.europa.eu.

Part I - The EU framework for high quality and reliable corporate reporting

The EU framework for corporate reporting has developed significantly since the EU adopted the fourth company law Directive \(Directive 78/660/EEC\) which coordinated the national provisions on the presentation, content and publication of annual accounts and management reports of limited liability companies. This Directive also already required a statutory audit of the annual accounts of limited liability companies.

Today, the Accounting Directive 2013/34/EU, the Statutory Audit Directive \(2006/43/EU\) and Audit Regulation \(537/2014\) and the Transparency Directive 2004/109/EC provide the main requirements that ensure the quality of corporate reporting and its enforcement in the EU. Moreover, the ESMA Regulation \(EU\)1095/2010 gives tasks to ESMA in relation to corporate reporting. Given the inclusion of the Transparency Directive in the scope of the ESMA Regulation ESMA can make use of its powers in the ESMA Regulation, such as to issue guidelines.

The main elements of this framework that guarantee the quality and reliability of corporate reporting can be summarised as follows

- C o r p o r a t e g o v e r n a n c e :
Responsibility of company boards for corporate reporting; the establishment by PIE's of an audit committee to minimise risks and to enhance the quality of financial reporting
- A u d i t :
The requirements for a statutory audit of the annual accounts to ensure that there are no material misstatements
- S u p e r v i s i o n :
The supervision of statutory auditors and audit firms to ensure the quality of audits and the supervision of corporate reporting by listed companies to ensure the quality of corporate reporting

The three pillars of the corporate reporting framework can be mutually reinforcing. At the same time, weaknesses in one pillar also negatively impact other pillars. Appropriate responsibilities and supervision of company boards provide incentives to company boards to focus on the quality of their corporate reporting. It will also incentivise them to see statutory audit not as a burden, but as an important external check by statutory auditors. On the other hand, where company boards are insufficiently accountable and supervised, there is a risk that boards may pay insufficient attention to the quality of reporting and that they provide insufficient resources for a proper audit.

Question 1. As a user of corporate reporting (retail or wholesale investor, credit rating agency, NGO, public authority, employees, suppliers, other stakeholders), what is the relative importance of the information contained therein compared to other sources of information?

Question 2.1 Please describe the main issues that you see, if any, in the four areas mentioned in question 2 and in the eco-system composed of all four areas. Where possible, please provide concrete examples and evidence supporting your assessment.

You may want to consider the following aspects

- have any factors reduced the effectiveness / rendered the relevant EU framework less effective than anticipated? Which rules have proven less effective than anticipated?
- is there room to improve efficiency via further simplification?
- are existing provisions coherent with each other?

It is important to consider a broader scope than just the corporate reporting output. The reporting process itself, but also the governance, data quality, internal controls, as well as culture and risk management of corporate reporting are important and maybe decisive for completeness, correctness and transparency of the reporting.

To reach for reliable, transparent, complete, correct, timely and comparable reporting, it needs to be the result of a strong internal control system (efficient and effective), as part of integrated risk management (e.g. COSO or ERM that are used broadly). Like all risks an organisation is facing, reliability of reporting follows from risk analysis, risk appetite setting, risk responses, and risk monitoring. Organisations need a strong governance over corporate reporting, with clear roles and responsibilities, and effective coordination to effectively execute the strategy.

We also need to consider other actors involved and not just the statutory auditors for providing assurance about the information published and to improve trust and confidence in corporate reporting. The internal roles and responsibilities to manage, control and audit the data and information processed into the final reporting, are imperative for proper reporting.

The regulation should include the key elements about the need for a strong governance over corporate reporting.

The IIA has published a Three Lines Model that articulates the core components of effective governance:

Accountability by a governing body to stakeholders for organisational oversight;

Actions, including risk management, by management to achieve the objectives of the organisation through risk based approach;

Assurance, insight and advice by an independent internal audit function to provide clarity and confidence, and to promote and facilitate continuous improvement.

In this model, clarification is made on interactions with other assurance providers

The ESMA report on enforcement and regulatory activities of European enforcers in 2020 notes that supervisors undertook the examination that year of 729 financial statements drawn up in accordance with International Financial Reporting Standards (IFRS). Based on these examinations, European enforcers took enforcement actions against 265 issuers in order to address material departures from IFRS. This represents an action rate of 38%.

As regards the audit sector the Commission's market monitoring report highlights deficiencies in audit firms' internal quality control systems, but also in individual files for audits of PIEs. National audit oversight bodies also report that part of statutory audits is not up to standards.

Question 3. Based on your own experience how do you assess the quality and reliability of corporate reporting by listed EU companies?

- 1 - Very low
- 2 - Low
- 3 - Medium
- 4 - High
- 5 - Very high
- Don't know / no opinion / not applicable

Question 3.1 Please provide concrete examples and evidence supporting your assessment in question 3 and explain the consequences that the quality and reliability of corporate reporting or lack thereof has on you.

The three lines model is developed here: <https://na.theiia.org/about-ia/PublicDocuments/Three-Lines-Model-Updated.pdf>

Internal auditors provide independent reasonable assurance and insight.

Question 4. There are no generally accepted standards or indicators to measure the quality of corporate reporting and of statutory audit, nor the effectiveness of supervision. In light of this, what are your views on the following questions?

	1 (strongly disagree)	2 (rather disagree)	3 (neutral)	4 (rather agree)	5 (strongly agree)	Don't know - No opinion - Not applicable
Would it be useful to have specific indicators to measure the quality of corporate reporting, of statutory audits and the effectiveness of supervision?	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input checked="" type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>
Is it possible to have clear and reliable indicators to measure the quality of corporate reporting, of statutory audit and the effectiveness of supervision?	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input checked="" type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>

Question 4.1 Please provide any further explanation supporting your views, and, where relevant, please suggest possible indicators of the quality and reliability of corporate reporting, statutory audit and supervision, where possible with concrete examples:

For the internal audit profession, the IIA's International Professional Practices Framework (IPPF) requires internal audit functions to have a Quality Assurance and Improvement Program (QAIP) in place. The QAIP enables a continuous evaluation of the internal audit activity's conformance with the Definition of Internal Auditing and the IPPF (<https://global.theiia.org/standards-guidance/mandatory-guidance/Pages/Definition-of-Internal-Audit>) requires internal audit functions to have a Quality Assurance and Improvement Program (QAIP) in place. The QAIP enables a continuous evaluation of the internal audit activity's conformance with the Definition of Internal Auditing and the IPPF and an evaluation of whether internal auditors apply the Code of Ethics. This evaluation includes a quality assurance review of the efficiency and effectiveness of the internal audit function. The review must take place every 5 years, by an external provider and it is part of the monitoring of the governance process by management and the audit committee.

Besides the external review, the IIA developed guidance for continuous self-assessments and quality reviews for each audit (including feedback from the auditees).

The internal audit function reports directly to the board, enabling it to perform its duties in an independent manner.

The evaluation of the independence of the external auditors is also key, and internal auditors may assess it on behalf of the board, based on various indicators related to the company (such as training of staff, number of supervision hours, audit regulators indicators,...) and on the external audit engagement process.

Question 5. In your view, should the Commission take action in the areas of the corporate governance pillar, the statutory audit pillar, the supervision of PIE auditors and audit firms and the supervision of corporate reporting to increase the quality and reliability of reporting by listed companies?

- Yes, there is a need to improve the some or all of the areas listed above
- Yes, there is a need to improve some or all of the areas listed above as well as other areas
- No, but there is a need to improve other areas than those listed above
- No, there is no need to take further action in any area
- Don't know / no opinion / not applicable

Please indicate to what extent you think the Commission should take action in each of the areas below to increase the quality and reliability of reporting by listed companies:

	1 (strongly disagree)	2 (rather disagree)	3 (neutral)	4 (rather agree)	5 (strongly agree)	Don't know - No opinion - Not applicable
Improve the corporate governance pillar	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input checked="" type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>
Improve the statutory audit pillar	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input checked="" type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>
Improve the supervision of PIE auditors and audit firms	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input checked="" type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>
Improve the supervision of corporate reporting	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input checked="" type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>	<input type="radio"/>

Question 5.1 Please provide any further explanation supporting your views, and where appropriate describe what actions you would prioritise and why, with concrete examples:

2000 character(s) maximum

including spaces and line breaks, i.e. stricter than the MS Word characters counting method.

The reporting process involves actors from each line. Each organization is different, but it is important to define the accountability of each actor involved to ensure the reliability, coherence and transparency of the information published .

Providing assurance on the corporate reporting is important, but as such not sufficient to safeguard and guarantee the accuracy, transparency, completeness and reliability of the information published.

It is important to assess the internal control systems in place and the risks management related to the strategic objectives and related processes linked to the information published. It is also worth assessing the governance, culture of the organisation as it might impact the reporting published.

We recommend a broader vision of the corporate governance principles and the reference to the Three Lines Model. Internal audit provides assurance and insight.

In the Financial Services regulations, there are already explicit references to this model :

- The model is recognized by the Banking regulator (EBA) and part of the Guidelines on internal governance (Final Guidelines on Internal Governance (EBA-GL-2017-11).pdf (europa.eu)).
- The Basel Committee (Art 38, Basel Committee on Banking Supervision – Guidelines on Corporate Governance principles for banks, July 2015) makes specific reference to it; and
- Some local regulations for the Insurance sector also refer to the model (e.g. in Belgium, 3 Art. 5.1.1, Circulaire 2016_31 related to the prudential expectations from the National Bank of Belgium in terms of governance systems for the insurance sector, 2018).

We recommend the set up guidance to facilitate the implementation and review of strong corporate governance, including internal governance.

Principles such as those mentioned above should be listed and it is important to let each organisation implement the model based on its organization as there is no 'one size fits all

First of all, it is up to companies themselves to implement a strong governance model. This includes the set up of a strong, professional audit committee. They are in charge, amongst other tasks, of the supervision of the auditors (external and internal), and the review of the reporting.

The people involved must have the experience, skills, competences, qualification, and training to be able to evaluate the information received. Efforts should be made in the composition of the audit committee members to ensure that they have collectively the required knowledge. It is also important to include knowledge about internal controls, risks management and audit techniques.

The coordination with other committees (such as risk committee, sustainability committee,...) is important to ensure a full review of the corporate reporting.

The internal auditor assesses the other Lines and collaborates with the second Line functions (risk management, human resources ,IT, sustainability,.....) to guarantee an integrated approach and review.

Internal Audit facilitates the communication and oversight by the Board/Audit/Risk Committees.

Regarding the statutory auditors, we recommend better coordination with the internal assurance providers (e. g. Internal Audit) in order to coordinate the efforts, avoid overlapping, and better cover the audit universe and exchange on key findings and recommendations. The audit committee should manage this coordination.

Everyone should take action in its domain.

Finally, many companies operate in various countries, so harmonized regulation would be helpful: common transposition of EU regulations in the different countries. It would facilitate benchmarking and the assessment of the quality of the reporting and the audit work.

Question 6. To what extent is there a need to modify the EU framework on corporate reporting to support the following objectives?

Part II - Corporate governance

The EU corporate governance framework focuses on the relationships between company boards, shareholders and other stakeholders, and therefore, on the way a company is managed and controlled. The framework consists of a combination of EU and Member State legislation and soft law, namely national corporate governance codes applied on a 'comply or explain' basis. It aims inter alia to provide protection for shareholders and other parties with a particular interest in companies, such as employees and creditors.

A sustainable corporate governance initiative is planned to be adopted by the Commission in 2021. (In addition, the Commission's study on directors' duties and sustainable corporate governance, July 2020, assesses the root causes of 'short termism' in corporate governance and discusses their relationship with current market practices and/or regulatory frameworks).

Key features of the EU framework on corporate governance that are relevant for corporate reporting are

- The collective responsibility of the members of the administrative, management and supervisory bodies of a company for drawing up and publishing annual financial statements and management reports
- The requirement for a statement by the persons responsible within the issuer that, to the best of their knowledge, the financial statements prepared give a true and fair view of the assets, liabilities, financial position and profit or loss of the issuer
- The requirement for PIEs to establish, in principle, an audit committee

It is important that the audit committees (AC) annually perform a quality assessment . It should be made by an independent qualified body, and the internal auditors (IA) could contribute with an annual assessment and exchanging/coordinating the efforts with the external party.

In the financial sector, the Chair of the AC is assessed (fit & proper testing). This approach could be an option and become mandatory for all committee members.

Criteria should be defined and should include skills, experience, knowledge, independence, expertise,.... ECIIA believes that the debate on the role and the scope of the external auditor should include clarification on the role of IA and more specifically their interaction with other assurance providers – including external auditors. In addition to adding value to this debate, a proper consideration of IA's contribution to audit governance and risk management structures in future regulatory initiatives, will increase efficiency and effectiveness of the reporting process.

The EU Directive 2014/56 mentions "monitor the effectiveness of the undertaking's internal quality control and risk management systems and, where applicable, its IA, regarding the financial reporting of the audited entity, without breaching its independence"

IA department plays an important role in assisting the AC in this duty. As we provide independent and objective assurance and insight on the internal control systems and risk management (including on the other Lines) and give an integrated opinion and make recommendations,

IA is essential to good governance and fosters trust, transparency and accountability. It contributes to the quality of the of the internal governance, risk management and internal control processes. As already demanded by several national governance codes and sector regulations, we recommend to make it mandatory to have an internal audit function for companies over a certain size.

We recommend the proper consideration of the internal audit's contribution to improved governance and risk management of corporate reporting, in future regulatory initiatives.

The Board/Governing Body in general seeks risk and control assurance from other sources than external auditors to effectively assume their oversight and monitoring their duties. Internal auditors can coordinate the efforts of all assurance providers involved, and provide objective and independent assurance and insight about the corporate reporting process, including recommendations to improve the underlying processes and data quality.

Internal auditors audit the processes and reporting of and around governance, risk management and reporting of non financial risks/information

We support the Three Lines Model as a benchmark for future regulatory guidance on strong corporate governance. A mutual supportive functioning of the external auditors and the internal audit function is key for providing a higher level of assurance to the organisation's board/Supervisor Body and stakeholders.

Question 9.2 Please provide any details to support your views. Any evidence, including on expected benefits and costs of such action is welcome:

Part III - Statutory audit

The overall objective of statutory audits is to ensure that financial statements are free from material misstatements and provide a true and fair view. The auditor has to identify and assess the risk of material misstatements and gather sufficient and appropriate audit evidence as the basis for his opinion that the financial statements provide a true and fair view and to publicly report on the results of his audit work. The EU audit rules promote audit quality and seek to ensure the independence of auditors and audit firms.

Therefore, the final objective of statutory audit is to contribute to the quality and reliability of financial statements of companies.

Part IV - Supervision of PIE statutory auditors and audit firms

National competent authorities are responsible for the approval and registration of statutory auditors and audit firms, the adoption of audit standards, quality assurance and investigative and administrative disciplinary systems.

At European level, the cooperation between competent authorities is organised within the framework of the Committee of European Audit Oversight Bodies \(the 'CEAOB'\). The CEAOB has different tasks aimed at supervisory convergence, but it has no power to take binding decisions (Article 30 Audit Regulation).

Part V - Supervision and enforcement of corporate reporting

The supervision and enforcement of corporate reporting refers to the examination by competent authorities of listed companies' compliance with the disclosure obligations stemming from the applicable reporting framework, as well as taking appropriate measures when infringements are identified.

Based on enforcement activities by national competent authorities, ESMA reports a significant level of material misstatements. In the follow up of the Wirecard case and based on its experience, ESMA recommended a number of actions to improve the enforcement of corporate reporting (see ESMA letter of 26 February 2021 to the Commissioner McGuinness on next steps following Wirecard - ESMA32-51-818).

The Transparency Directive includes a number of requirements relating to supervision of corporate reporting

- the designation of a central competent authority in each Member State. For the enforcement of corporate reporting, Member States may designate a competent authority other than the central authority and/or delegate tasks to other entities
- national central competent authorities must be independent from market participants. There are no specific provisions as regards the independence of other designated authorities. As regards entities with delegated tasks, the entity in question must be organised in a manner such that conflicts of interest are avoided and information obtained from carrying out the delegated tasks is not used unfairly or to prevent competition
- Member States must provide competent authorities with certain powers, including investigative powers
- ESMA is tasked to foster supervisory convergence as regards the enforcement of financial statements prepared in accordance with the IFRS. For this purpose it has adopted in 2014 guidelines on the enforcement of financial information

Question 18. Considering the level of material departures from IFRS in the financial statements of listed companies found in the ESMA report on enforcement and regulatory activities of European enforcers in 2020, how would you rate (on a scale of 1 to 5) the degree to which such departures can be attributed to deficiencies in the EU supervisory framework?
